

Ann Walker of Cliffe Hill House. 1801 – 1854. The memorial plaque.

Ann was buried under a pulpit in the old, and now demolished, church. There was a brass plaque attached to the wall which is now stored high up inside the tower. It is difficult to get into a position to take a decent photograph and this is the best that we've been able to do. The tower is under the care of the Friends of Friendless Churches.

We are hoping to find an image enhancing program to produce a better photograph. However we do know what is written.

In memory of Ann Walker of Cliffe Hill who was born May 20th 1803 [all Roman numerals] and died February 25th 1854 and is buried underneath the pulpit in this church.

And of her neice, Mary who died June 6th 1845 and is buried in this churchyard.

and of her nephews George Sackville [Sutherland] who died in 1843 aged 12, John Walker who died in 1836 aged 1 year and are buried in Kirkmichael, Rosshire the children of George McKay & Elizabeth Sutherland.

There is a brass plaque on the south wall of Halifax Parish Church [Halifax Minster] dedicating a window by Evan Charles Sutherland Walker in an identical style.

There were 2 pulpits as shown in this photo around 1960.

aa60_03892

SOURCE: Historic England Archive

In this photograph taken in the 1970s just before the church was demolished, the plaque can be seen in the blind window on the left.

bb71_03504

SOURCE: Historic England Archive

Ann Walker, the elder. Ann's aunt. She is buried under the church. A brass plate commemorated her death at the age of 90 was attached to the end of a pew. It is now kept in the new church.

There are 2 more memorials to members of the Walker family in the tower. For details please visit our website, About the Churchyard & look towards the bottom of the page to move to the information about the old church.